

Transactional Data Mining (TDM)

The power of data—to place the right message, to the right member, at the right time—has never been more powerful for response rates, results, and ROI.

Synergent Marketing Services has the tools and tips to make your next data-driven campaign a success.

Unleashing the Power of Member Data

Do you want to increase and quantify your credit union's return on marketing investments?

The benefits of leveraging transactional data to better serve members are clear—the power of data to place the right message, to the right member, at the right time has never been more powerful for response rates, results, and ultimately ROI.

By narrowing the target list in each marketing campaign, you reach the members most likely to be interested and engaged in your promotional activities, effectively saving your credit union time and marketing dollars, and increasing return on marketing investment! Synergent is your single source for data mining, segmenting, distributing campaign materials, and analyzing campaign success.

How It Works

Determine Your Offer

Is this an auto loan for new purchases at the dealership? Or an auto loan recapture campaign? What about HELOCs, cards, debt consolidation? What incentives are you offering? Whatever your offer is, this is a key factor in strategizing your targets.

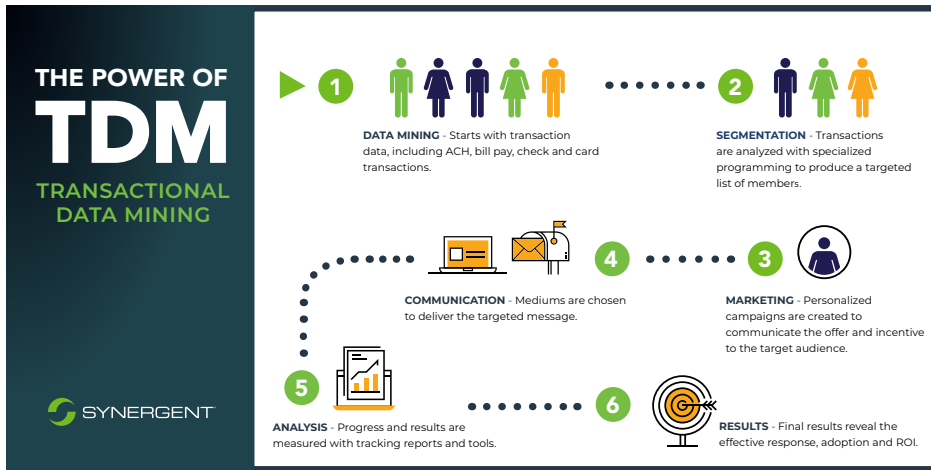

Segment the Target List

Synergent's data mining team can extract and develop your list using a variety of transactional data sources, including core data, ACH, checks, bill pay, and card transactions. The list can be limited to current members in the case of recapture campaigns, or expanded to a geographical area to entice new members.

Create Your Assets

Whether your in-house marketing team has a design already prepared or you wish to work with Synergent's award-winning creative team, our goal is to help create a cohesive campaign that reflects your credit union and the offer you wish to convey.

Transactional Data Mining (TDM)

“Transactional data mining is a significant tool for identifying members with potential needs. Synergent uses transactional data sources to identify and engage recipients with promotional offerings that benefit both the members with a new product or service, and credit unions with new earnings and member satisfaction.”

~ Doug MacDonald

Marketing Solutions Consultant
Synergent

Spread the Word

Emails, print mail, or both? Postcards, letters, or something different? Adding on personalized URLs (PURLs), and custom 800 numbers? There are so many options on how you can share your message with your members!

Analyze the Results

Your collaboration with Synergent does not end with the mailing of the campaign! At the conclusion of the campaign, we measure your results with tracking tools and reports that clearly show campaign performance.

Get Started

We've helped credit unions produce award-winning, data-driven campaigns that get results. Request a case study or visit synergentcorp.com/marketing for more!

Learn More

For additional information on implementing Transactional Data Mining at your credit union, please contact your dedicated Account Relationship Manager or email marketingservice@synergentcorp.com.